Members of the City Council were asked to respond to questions posed by staff related to potential amendments to the Residential Rent Stabilization Ordinance (RRSO).

In response to the approach to amend the RRSO, Council Member Márquez expressed support for a rent control program with a rent threshold tied to the Consumer Price Index and make a process applicable to all rental units except all complexes of four units or less, including single-family homes. In terms of a vacancy decontrol process, she preferred to eliminate the process for decontrolling units maintaining the 1,000-1,600 units, currently covered by rent increase limitations. Regarding the eviction for cause process, she preferred to expand eviction for cause to all units, including single-family homes. Regarding other tenant protections, she mentioned that the options could be explored through the Homelessness-Housing Task Force and for the Task Force to have a firm timeline of three to six months with action items coming back to the City Council.

In response to the approach to amend the RRSO, Council Member Zermeño expressed support for a mediation process with binding arbitration and cover as many units as legally possible. In terms of a vacancy decontrol process, he favored eliminating the process of decontrolling units. He favored expanding eviction for cause to all units. He favored the four tenant protection options and suggested adding a tenant code of conduct. He also favored requiring that rent increase and eviction notices be filed with the City. Additionally, he urged action to stop displacing any more renters, address unclear provisions, and reward landlords in compliance.

In response to the approach to amend the RRSO, Council Member Wahab expressed support for rent control and a rent increase threshold that is fair to all rental units (single-family, duplex, triplex, quadraplex, multi-home, including mobile home units); suggested that tenants be informed in writing understanding Hayward is a community of immigrants; wanted stronger infrastructure improvements and support for the landlords in financing that; craft a Tenant Protection Ordinance; mimic the City of Berkeley's database and consider a control mechanism once bad actors have been identified; review allowing to decontrol all previously decontrolled units; and added that tenant protection and just cause eviction constituted the code of conduct for landlords.

In response to the approach to amend the RRSO, Council Member Lamnin expressed support for a mediation process with binding arbitration for all units with a rent increase threshold in the 5 or 6% range that includes rent and other charges; recommended to be sensitive to residents' working arrangement when scheduling meetings; consider the fees that would cover the cost of administering and enforcing the amended ordinance; consider incentives or unit improvements for good landlords. In terms of the vacancy decontrol process, she preferred to suspend the vacancy decontrol process for a period. Regarding the eviction for cause process, she preferred expanding the eviction for cause to all units. In terms of other tenant protections, she supported all options except the promotion of a landlord code of conduct. Additionally, she recommended a database that advocacy groups, tenants and landlords can contribute to and streamline the process for getting a business license.

In response to the approach to amend the RRSO, Council Member Mendall expressed support for mandatory mediation with a rent threshold in the 5-8% range and a process applicable to all market rate rental units built prior to July 1, 1979, except: single-family homes and owner-occupied units (single-family homes, duplex, triplex, quadruplex). He added that a rent increase associated with the sale of a property needed to be corrected. In terms of a vacancy decontrol process, he preferred to suspend the vacancy decontrol process for a period to gather data before making a recommendation. Regarding eviction for cause, he preferred expanding eviction for cause to all units. In terms of other tenant protections, he concurred with the four options but preferred to do the promotion of a landlord code of conduct last. Lastly, he preferred requiring filing of eviction notices with the City.

In response to the approach to amend the RRSO, Council Member Salinas expressed support for a mediation process with binding arbitration using the Consumer Price Index across the board and making the process applicable to all market rate rental units except for single-family homes. In terms of the vacancy decontrol process, he preferred removing the process for decontrolling units. Regarding the eviction for cause, he supported expanding eviction for cause to all units. In terms of tenant protection options, he preferred that the prohibition against discrimination of Section 8 voucher holders come back to Council faster, and that there be a code of conduct for both landlords and tenants and collect qualitative and quantitative data on both tenant and landlord experiences. Lastly, he supported requiring that rent increase and eviction notices be filed with the City.

In response to the approach to amend the RRSO, Mayor Halliday expressed support for a mediation process with binding arbitration that ensures fairness for both sides using a 5% rent threshold or CPI inclusive of rent and other extra charges such as parking, and making the process applicable to all market rate rental units except single-family units, and considering legal assistance for everyone, and instituting flexible hours. Regarding the vacancy decontrol process, she preferred suspending the vacancy decontrol process for a period. In terms of the eviction for cause, she preferred expanding eviction for cause to more rental units except for owner-occupied single-family units. Regarding other tenant protections, she supported the four options. Lastly, she favored a database and a requirement that rent increase and eviction notices be filed with the City.
