15. Public Art: Consideration of a Public Art Development Impact Fee (Report from Acting City Manager Lawson) WS 25-028

Staff report submitted by Acting City Manager Lawson, dated June 17, 2025, was filed.

Acting City Manager Lawson introduced Community Partnership Manager Ebadi, who provided a synopsis of the staff report.

There being no public comment requests, Mayor Salinas opened and closed the public comment section at 7:47 p.m.

Council Member Zermeno expressed support for a public art development impact fee. In response to Council Member Zermeno's inquiry for the status of large movie posters on Foothill Boulevard, Community Partnership Manager Ebadi noted he would investigate it.

Council Member Andrews asked if staff had evaluated an interim plan in terms of incorporating public art into current Capital Improvement Plans projects, referencing to organic efforts such as crosswalks. Community Partnership Ebadi noted the current funding covers maintenance of current projects; and noted that while the Nexus study would need an external consultant due to its complexity, the public art master plan would be completed internally to conserve funds.

Council Member Andrews expressed general support for the recommendation noting it would help support the City's goals of investing in infrastructure/quality of life and growing the economy.

Council Member Roche highlighted the economic and cultural value of public art. In response to Council Member Roche's inquiry as to whether other cities with art fees also enact park and traffic impact fees, Community Partnership Manager Ebadi noted the analysis focused only on art fees. Council Member Roche expressed support for the development of a public art fee, being aware of minimizing costs.

Council Member Syrop voiced support for the Nexus study; emphasized that public art should include not just murals but also sculptures and landmark features to enhance Hayward's sense of place; stressed the need for a thoughtful, community-involved art selection process; and raised concerns about the Economic Development Committee being the sole decision-maker. Community Partnership Manager Ebadi assured that the public art master plan would outline community-inclusive processes and standards, developed with broad input.

Council Member Bonilla Jr. expressed general agreement with his colleagues and support for moving forward with the Nexus study; emphasized the importance of comparing Hayward's cumulative impact fees with those of other cities; and suggested engaging the developer community for feedback.

Mayor Salinas expressed support for the public art initiative, highlighting its role in stimulating economic development and civic engagement.

Members of the City Council thanked City staff for all the work related to the item and appreciated Council Member Andrews' leadership for moving public art forward in Hayward.

Tuesday, June 17, 2025, 7:00 p.m.

In response to Council Member Bonilla Jr.'s inquiry about Hayward's decision to rely entirely on water from the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (SFPUC), despite other agencies using groundwater, and how Hayward manages to keep water rates lower than some neighboring cities, Public Works Director Ameri explained that Hayward purchases 100% of its water from the Hetch Hetchy system, which is among the highest-quality water sources in the nation, and the presence of water bottling plants in Hayward as evidence of the water's exceptional quality, and the City operates efficiently, carefully controlling costs.

In response to Council Member Andrews' inquiry as to whether residents who submitted protest letters under Proposition 218 and cited financial hardship had received responses, Management Analyst Nguyen confirmed that residents who expressed financial concerns were contacted with information about water conservation programs and low-income discount options. In response to Council Member Andrews' request to address the infrastructure implications if Hayward were to use lower-quality water, Public Works Director Ameri explained that using water well could introduce contaminants such as PFAS (forever chemicals), which are costly and difficult to remove.

In response to Mayor Salinas' inquiry as to how long Hayward has been receiving water from the Hetch Hetchy reservoir, Director Ameri responded that the City began using Hetch Hetchy water in the early 1940s and fully converted to 100% usage by the mid-1950s, retiring all local wells for emergency use only.

Council Member Roche followed up to clarify that the City is not passing the full cost of SFPUC's water rate increases onto customers, and Public Works Director Ameri confirmed that Hayward is using $6 million in reserves this year and $4 million next year to offset rate hikes and avoid spikes for residents.

There being no public comment, Mayor Salinas opened and closed the public hearing at 8:18 p.m.

It was moved by Council Member Roche, seconded by Council Member Andrews, and carried unanimously, to adopt the resolutions.

Staff report submitted by Acting City Manager Lawson and Interim Finance Director Etman, dated June 17, 2025, was filed.

Acting City Manager Lawson announced the item and introduced Interim Finance Director Etman who provided a synopsis of the staff report, noting a suggested amendment to the operating budget resolution by adding language at the end, referencing Attachment X – FY 2025-26 Budget Adoption Addendum.

Discussion ensued among members of the City Council and Interim Finance Director Etman, Acting City Manager Lawson and Chief Economic Development Officer Nguyen and the following clarifications were made: the City's projected deficit increase from $12.6 million to $16 million resulted from reversing a previously anticipated $3.5 million reduction in Fire Department overtime; while Route 238 property funds are accounted for separately for accounting purposes, they are still part of the General Fund and can now be used to reduce reliance on core General Fund reserves; the City has about 70 General Fund vacancies, and reducing approximately 50 of those positions could save around $10 million; any Utility User Tax (UUT) impact on the budget would be minimal in FY 2025–26 and more significant in future years; the Economic Development reduction reflects a reduced General Fund transfer that can be adjusted as needed; the $250,000 reduction to the Economic Development Fund, represents 71% of its discretionary programming budget, which would impact outward-facing programs such as business grants and façade improvements, previously supported by American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) funds; staff's recommendation sought to adopt a budget with an $8.9 million deficit; vacancy management discussions would be ongoing with labor partners through the fall; the amendment to the resolution, adds language explicitly stating that the City Council is adopting the addendum as outlined in Attachment X, thereby reducing the deficit from $12.6 million to $8.9 million; the $1.5 million in savings from pausing the Mobile Integrated Health Unit (MIHU) program had already been factored into the draft budget; while overtime was underbudgeted in the current year, particularly in the Fire Department, next year's budget more accurately reflects actual needs across departments; discussions with labor partners to develop appropriate staffing models are planned before the fall revise; with limited new revenue, the City will need to focus on maintaining core services and cannot afford to expand programs or staff; and Measure C/Measure K-1 funds are protected for services that were promised to residents.

Council Member Bonilla Jr. emphasized the need for transparency and consistent tracking of progress toward closing the $9 million gap, suggesting a monthly dashboard or visual tool to monitor departmental contributions and reward system for departments that help reduce the deficit.

Council Member Andrews introduced her Urban League fellow, Israel Mendez, a Chabot College student and Hayward Youth Commission member; and emphasized the importance of economic development and urged to reexamine that funding during the fall budget review.

Council Member Roche acknowledged the challenge of managing rising personnel costs and keeping jobs competitive while maintaining City services; and urged the City Council to consider restoring the Economic Development funding during the fall revise.

Council Member Syrop acknowledged the limited changes possible at this stage due to legal obligations but emphasized the importance of staying committed to resolving the deficit and working collaboratively with labor partners moving forward.

Council Member Goldstein raised concerns about the City repeatedly facing deficits.

Council Member Zermeno expressed concern over reductions to Economic Development programs, emphasizing the importance of attracting and retaining businesses to strengthen Hayward's local economy, and supported the idea of revisiting funding in the fall revise.

Mayor Salinas expressed optimism at property tax increases which reflect that individuals are purchasing homes.

Mayor Salinas opened the public hearing at 9:09 p.m.

Suzanne Luther, Hayward resident, expressed concern over the City's budget deficit; and opposed spending funds on a public art Nexus study, suggesting instead that poster awardee students be compensated for their work.

Ron Collins, with SEIU Local 1021, criticized the focus on labor costs during the budget discussion, pointing out that management salaries have not been addressed; argued that overtime could be reduced through better staffing and management; and urged that no rewards be given for cuts to wages or benefits.

TJ, with Hayward Concerned Citizens, requested a public list of the specific vacant positions being cut for budget savings, citing the need for transparency.

Ro Aguilar, Hayward resident, urged the City to pursue more aggressive and collaborative efforts with Alameda County partners to secure funding for transitional and long-term housing infrastructure for homeless individuals, particularly through rehabilitated hotels with wraparound services.

Mayor Salinas closed the public hearing at 9:18 p.m.

Council Member Syrop emphasized the importance of managing overtime during the next year; highlighted the opportunity for savings through updating the police beat schedule; pushed back on the notion that new programs are a luxury, advocating for investments that can yield long-term savings and community benefits, such as homelessness prevention; noted that Hayward leads the way in developing innovative and collaborative solutions with county partners around homelessness; and noted that efforts to address the deficit will be a group effort with all labor partners.

Council Member Andrews noted the timing of the public art impact fee review might not seem opportune but was part of long-standing efforts tied to economic development and reducing City blight; reiterated the importance of revisiting the Economic Development budget in the fall revise; and advocated for pursuing additional grant opportunities and efficient use of City resources.

Acting City Manager Lawson noted the City had encouraging conversations with the county related to Measure W funds, in support of homelessness and affordable housing opportunities; and added that as he returns to his position as attorney, he will monitor any executive orders should they have an impact on the City.

Mayor Salinas expressed appreciation for City staff, the finance team, and the executive team for their work in navigating the City's financial situation; acknowledged the labor groups for their historical cooperation and professionalism during challenging times; emphasized that trust and early, transparent negotiations are essential; and highlighted the economic impact of the Economic Development division, urging to preserve its capacity, noting its role in job creation and revenue generation.

Members of the City Council thanked staff for the work done and especially acknowledged the Finance team. Interim Finance Director Etman thanked Acting City Manager Lawson for his leadership during a difficult transition and acknowledged his Finance team.

It was moved by Mayor/HRSA/HHA Chair Salinas seconded by City Council/RSA/HHA Member Goldstein, and carried unanimously, to adopt the resolutions, with an amendment to the operating budget resolution by adding language explicitly stating that the City Council is adopting the addendum as outlined in Attachment X, thereby reducing the deficit from $12.6 million to $8.9 million.
