6:36 GUEST SPEAKERS

Shelby Sugierski comes in and talks about the Rising Sun Energy center internship. She encourages us to apply for the internship because we can help our community through it. They are a nonprofit organization and provide a free service called a “greenhouse call” that is an electricity and water assessment to let the community know how to save energy in their homes.

6:52 TASK FORCE UPDATES

Commissioner Vivian talks about a task force meeting that will happen on Thursday at 6pm.

6:52 HAYWARD CITY COUNCIL REPORTS

Mr. Zermeño talks about Tiny Homes to solve our homeless problem, which are little mobile homes for people without them, a tax on cannabis and the allowance of some stores in Downtown Hayward, and ICE, and how it has become harsh in our communities. They were looking for 150 people (only criminals) but it was rumoured that it was around 800. But the council is working with La Familia and Tiburcio Vasquez to make some classes of Know Your Rights. And finally, the council will look into solar energy and by 2025 the city of Hayward will no longer produce carbon dioxide. We are the greenest city in the United States!
